At the graduate level, the goal is the development of knowledgeable and professional nurses who are able to unify practice with theory and advanced research to provide leadership, education, and service to healthcare stakeholders and to the profession.

The program curriculum instills nurses with vital knowledge and skills to promote health, lead change, and elevate advanced care in various roles and diverse environments.

Emphasis will be placed on evidence-based practice, professional development, and scholarly practice preparing nursing professionals with advanced theoretical skills and applied research methods.
